SpaDecor.com Adds Thermique Towel Warmers

Beautiful Heated Glass Design Sets Thermique Apart

CHICAGO, III. (May 21, 2009) — Unmatched for beauty and style, Thermique™ Towel Warmers are now available through SpaDecor.com, a website renowned for offering only the highest quality products to meet the unique functional and aesthetic needs of luxury spas.

As an element of interior design, glass adds elegance and sophistication to the spa environment. By designing towel warmers with heated glass, Thermique allows spa owners to enhance the appearance of their spa as well as the experience of visiting. Only the patented Thermique Towel Warmer allows staff and guests to drape their towels over beautiful heated glass rather than old-fashioned metal bars.

Too often, spa owners and interior designers are reluctant to include a traditional metal towel warmer in a luxury spa environment despite the feeling of joy and relaxation that warm towels will provide to their guests. The superior beauty of a Thermique Towel Warmer removes any hesitation about bringing a towel warmer into the room.

“When your guests wrap themselves in the warm embrace of a heated towel, they can’t help but smile,” said Jim Dennison, director of marketing for Thermique Technologies. “At the same time, they’ll marvel at the unique beauty of a glass towel warmer. This is a moment of joy they will remember—and want to repeat time and again.”

SpaDecor.com offers both wall-mounted and freestanding Thermique Towel Warmers in a variety of colors and finishes to match any décor. To learn more or to place an order, visit www.SpaDecor.com.

The freestanding Thermique Heated Glass Towel Warmer earned a 2008 ADEX Award for Design Excellence, adding to Thermique’s growing collection of honors and awards. Other accolades include Popular Science magazine’s “Best of What’s New” in innovative technologies, “Best New Bath Product” at the 2005 Kitchen & Bath Industry Show, a 2006 KB Award for “Best Bath Product” from Woman’s Day Home Remodeling & Makeovers magazine, and a GOOD DESIGN™ Award from the Chicago Athenaeum.
